What Families Should Know About the 2021 STAAR

This year's STAAR results are for learning and recovery only.

- The scores will not be used to rate schools or districts or to evaluate teachers.
- They will not affect promotion for students in any grades.

School and districts will use STAAR to identify learning gaps.

- Teachers will use the scores to better understand how the pandemic impacted learning and develop plans to address learning gaps.
- District leaders will use the results to ensure the schools and students in greatest need receive the resources they need for recovery.
