To Our Valued Customer:

Albie's Food Products, LLC is committed in producing and distributing wholesome, quality foods. This letter is intended to aid our customers in understanding our date of production stamp.

Albie's Food Products stamps the date of production on its products as part of our commitment to helping our customers receive fresh, tasty food. Because expiration dates vary by product, we never stamp expiration dates onto any product produced within our facility.

Thus, if you see a date stamped or printed on any of our products or packaging, it is the day that the product was produced, and is not an expiration date.

If you have additional questions, please feel free to contact Albie's foods.
